After the initial period, the coverage is renewed annually based on a yearly renewable term cost (YRT cost). Although the insurance is illustrated to age 100 of the designated life insured, this does not mean the policy terminates at that time. In fact, the policy will remain in force until the death of the designated life insured if the required premiums have been paid to age 100.

Additional Information

Some exclusions and limitations may apply to this coverage, particularly if any riders have been elected. Complete insurance coverage details are available in the RBC Life Insurance Company policy. A sample policy may be requested from your insurance advisor before the policy is issued.

This illustration provides information about policy benefits and premiums. It is not a contract or an offer to provide insurance. The premium will be set once the coverage is underwritten by RBC Life Insurance Company, and will be specified in the policy when it is issued. The terms and conditions of the policy will take precedence over any information included in this illustration.
